THE CULTURE OF CAMEROON

Cameroon is located in Central Africa where it occupies a total area of 475,442 square km. The country hosts a population of 25 million individuals.

Ethnicity, Language, And Religion

Cameroon has a multi-ethnic population. The largest ethnic communities living in the country are the Cameroon Highlanders, Equatorial Bantu, Kirdi, Fulani, Northwestern Bantu, and the Eastern Nigritic peoples. French and English are the official languages of Cameroon. Each ethnic community of the country also speaks their respective languages. Christianity is the religion of the majority. Roman Catholics and Protestants account for 38.4% and 26.3% of the country's population, respectively. Muslims represent 20.9% of the population. Many of the inhabitants of Cameroon also practice their indigenous African religions.

Clothing

The traditional attires of Cameroon's population vary depending on the landscape and climate of the country. In the northern regions, Muslims live in large numbers, and a hot and arid climate prevails. The people here generally adorn vibrant, light-weight, and free-flowing robes, and head coverings. The garments are usually richly embroidered. In the southern part of the country (a predominantly Christian population and large forested landscapes), people usually wear multi-layered embroidered clothing.

Literature, Art, And Craft

Cameroon, like most African countries, has a strong tradition of storytelling. Prior to colonial rule, only oral literature existed in the country. It was in the form of folk tales and legends, magic formulas, rituals, heroic epics, poems, war stories, etc. During the colonial period, the spread of formal education led to the production of written literature in French and English. Today, Cameroon has a rich collection of published works.

The craftsmen of Cameroon are highly regarded for their crafts which have both decorative and functional values. Sculpting, bead working, calabash carving and painting, embroidery, basket-weaving, bronze and brass working, leather working, pottery, etc., are some of the famous craft works from the country.
