SECTION A: DRAMA
WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE: AS YOU LIKE IT

1. Read the following passage and answer the questions below it

Now, my co-mates and brothers in exile,
Hath not old custom made this life more sweet
Than that of painted pomp? Are not these woods
More free from peril than the envious court?
Here feel we not the penalty of Adam, 5
The seasons difference; as the icy fang
And churlish chiding of the winter's wind,
Which, when it bites and blows upon my body
Even till I shrink with cold, I smile and say
"This is no flattery; these are counsellors 10
That feelingly persuade me what I am."
Sweet are the uses of adversity,
Which, like the toad, ugly and venomous,
Wears yet a precious jewel in his head;
And this our life, exempt from public haunt, 15
Finds tongues in trees, books in the running brooks,
Sermons in stones, and good in everything.

- a) i) Identity the speaker (1 mark)
ii) To whom is the speaker talking? (1 mark)

2. Read the following passage and answer the questions below it.

Speaker A:

Truly, shepherd, in respect of itself, it is good life; but in Respect that it is a shepherd's life, it is naught. In respect that it is solitary, I like it very well; but in respect that it is private, it is a very vile life. Now, in respect it is in the fields, it pleaseth me well; but in respect it is not in the court, it is tedious. As it is 5 a spare life, look you, it fits my humour well; but as there is no more plenty in it, it goes much against my stomach. Hast any philosophy in thee, shepherd?

Speaker B:

No more, but that I know the more one sickens, the worse at ease he is; and that he that wants money, means, and content 10 is without three good friends; that the property of rain is to wet, and fire to burn; that good pasture makes fat sheep; and that a great cause of the night is lack of the sun; that he that hath learned no wit by nature nor art may complain of good breeding, or comes of a very dull kindred.

SECTION C: POETRY
BOLE BUTAKE: CAMEROON ANTHOLOGY OF POETRY

5. Read the following extract and answer the questions that follow:

The Emperor built a monument
 In his image and glory,
 And gilded it from toe to crest,
 And at its feet we laid palm fronds

Guards stood watch by day and night, 5
 In sunshine and rain alike,
 And it, in a circle backed,
 To face the external foe.
 On each nativity, "sages" the world over,
 Paid homage to emperor and monument, 10
 And the world went round in glory,
 For the animate and the inanimate.
