SECTION C: READING COMPREHENSION (10marks) Read the passage carefully and answer the questions below.

Disaster management

Cameroon has a number of disaster ricks. Some of these are natural disasters such as landslides in the mountainous areas in the west, floods in the north, and carbon dioxide emissions from lake Nyos. There are also disaster caused by humans, including traffic accidents and the threat of terrorist attacks. So it is important that people know how to respond in an emergency situation. Law enforcement officials are amongst the first to respond.

Traffic officials respond to traffic accidents and the police respond to other emergencies. Often they need to work together.

Medical staff also need to assist at most emergencies. Paramedics are trained to deal with injuries and illnesses at the scene of an incident. Ambulance staff then take the injured to hospitals or clinics, where they will be treated by nurses and doctors.

If there is a fire, trained firefighters will arrive. They know how to cope with different sorts of fires, such as buildings on fire or chemical explosions.

If the emergency occurs in a nature reserve, such as an explosion at lake Nyos or a wildfire in a reserve, then environmental officials will take control. They will assist the paramedics.

So what can ordinary citizens do? Know some basic first aid so that you can do emergency treatment such as stopping bleeding, assisting with breathing and treating burns. Be aware that in a crime scene you should touch as little as possible so that the police are able to gather evidence. But most importantly, the most useful thing is to call the experts. So you should know who to phone for different situations. Keep those telephone numbers in your cell phone.
