Topic: In Cameroon, the environment is highly polluted because many inhabitants are ignorant of the items they can recycle and reuse in their homes. In 150 words, explain how some of the waste items we use in our homes can be recycled, using the following guidelines: Define waste products, give three examples of waste products that can be recycled, explain how they can be recycled and reused, and give three importance of recycling wastes in our society.

Model Answer:

Waste products are unwanted materials that are discarded after use. Examples of waste products that can be recycled include plastic bottles, tin cans, and old newspapers. Plastic bottles can be melted and reshaped into new bottles or other plastic items. Tin cans can be cleaned, flattened, and used to make flower pots or pencil holders. Old newspapers can be turned into paper pulp and remade into new paper products.

Recycling is important because it reduces pollution by minimizing the amount of waste dumped in landfills. It also conserves natural resources by reusing materials instead of extracting new ones. Lastly, recycling creates job opportunities in waste management and recycling industries. By recycling, we can protect the environment and promote sustainable living.
