This is your favorite Radio Mount Cameroon FM, the best radio station here in Bokwaongo. My name is Njoh Malingo and I am a form three student from the bilingual High School Molyko Radio club. Well this is a special day. It's clear and sunny and everyone is ready for the Mount Cameroon Race of hope. As you know Mount Cameroon is about 4000 meters high and it is the highest mountain in West Africa It is also an active volcano and the venue for one of the best races in Africa. It is also an active Volcano and the venue for one of one of the best races in Africa. This is an international competition that rewards excellent personal achievement.

Over 600 athletes will set off at the beginning of the race this year. Twenty-nine of them are from countries outside Cameroon such as Kenya, France, Eritrea, Rwanda, Morocco, Great Britain, Japan and the United States of America. The athletes will all try to be the first to reach the summit of Mount Cameroon and then run down to cross the finish line first. What an endeavor !

The athletes have all trained very hard for this race. Some may have been set back by injuries along the way. Others may have set aside their work and their social lives to train for this race. Some of them have been preparing for this for years. This type of commitment sets some athletes apart from others. We can say that those who win have truly succeeded in their quest for excellence. Even those who just complete the race will have achieved a lot. We wish them all the very best of luck today.

SECTION D: COMPOSITION (10 marks)

Topic 1: Gender Inequality

Letter to the President:

Your Name: Ngum Denis Address: P.O. BOX 51, Yaounde Melen.

Dear Mr. President,

I am writing to bring to your attention the issue of gender inequality, which is still prevalent in our society. Gender inequality refers to the unequal treatment or perceptions of individuals based on their gender. It is a significant problem that affects both men and women, but women are often the most disadvantaged.

There are several causes of gender inequality. Firstly, cultural norms and traditions often dictate that women should be submissive and stay at home, while men are expected to be the breadwinners. Secondly, lack of education for girls and women perpetuates inequality, as they are denied opportunities to develop their skills and contribute to society. Lastly, discriminatory laws and policies often favor men over women, especially in areas like employment and inheritance.

To stop gender imbalance and promote gender equality, we need to take several steps. Firstly, we must educate both boys and girls equally, ensuring that girls have the same opportunities as boys. Secondly, we should enforce laws that protect women's rights and punish those who discriminate against them. Finally, we need to change societal attitudes by promoting gender equality through media and public awareness campaigns.

I hope you will take these issues seriously and work towards creating a more equal society.
Yours sincerely, Ngum Denis

Topic 2: Democracy

Essay:

Democracy is a system of governance where power lies in the hands of the people. It allows citizens to participate in decision-making processes, usually through elected representatives. Democracy is based on principles such as freedom, equality, and the rule of law.

There are several advantages of democracy. Firstly, it promotes freedom of speech and expression, allowing people to voice their opinions without fear of persecution. Secondly, democracy ensures that leaders are accountable to the people, as they can be voted out of office if they fail to perform. Lastly, democracy encourages political stability, as it provides a peaceful way to resolve conflicts and transfer power.

However, democracy also has some inconveniences. One major issue is that it can lead to slow decision-making, as it requires consensus and compromise among different groups. Another problem is that democracy can sometimes result in the election of leaders who are popular but not necessarily competent.

In conclusion, while democracy has its challenges, it remains one of the best systems of governance because it empowers the people and promotes equality and freedom.
