SECTION D: COMPOSITION WRITING (10 MARKS)

Topic 1: Describe your movement from your house to your school Campus.

In your work:

- State four things you see on your way to school, four important buildings, and the nature of the road.
- State two importance of locating places.

Sample Composition:

Every morning, I walk from my house to my school campus. On my way, I see many interesting things. First, I pass by a busy market where people are buying and selling goods. Next, I see a large park where children play and adults exercise. Then, I walk past a petrol station where cars are refueling. Finally, I see a church where people gather for prayers.

Along the way, I also notice four important buildings. The first is the town hall, where local government meetings are held. The second is the public library, where students and researchers go to study. The third is the hospital, which provides medical care to the community. The fourth is the police station, which ensures safety and security in the area.

The road to my school is mostly paved, but some parts are rough and uneven. There are many potholes, especially during the rainy season, which makes walking difficult.

Locating places is important for two reasons. First, it helps us find our way to different destinations, especially in unfamiliar areas. Second, it allows us to access essential services like hospitals, schools, and markets quickly in case of emergencies.

Topic 2: Volunteering Service is one of the things that people like to do. In your opinion, say why it is important to people doing it and to the society as well.

In your composition:

- Say who is a volunteer and what he or she does.

Sample Composition:

Volunteering is an act of offering one's time and skills to help others without expecting payment. A volunteer is someone who willingly participates in activities that benefit the community or individuals in need. Volunteers can work in various fields, such as education, healthcare, environmental conservation, and disaster relief.

Volunteering is important for both the individual and society. For the individual, it provides a sense of purpose and fulfillment. It allows people to develop new skills, gain experience, and build relationships with others. Volunteering also boosts self-confidence and improves mental health by reducing stress and anxiety.

For society, volunteering plays a crucial role in addressing social issues and improving the quality of life for many people. Volunteers help to provide essential services, especially in areas where resources are limited. They also promote unity and cooperation within communities by bringing people together to work towards common goals.

In conclusion, volunteering is a valuable activity that benefits both the individual and society. It is a way to make a positive impact on the world while also growing personally and professionally.

Topic 3: Write about your first experience in college Mongo Beti.

In your work:

- Say why you chose to come to college Mongo Beti.
- How can you contribute to the well-being of the college.
- What are your plans in order to succeed at the end of the academic year.

Sample Composition:

My first experience at College Mongo Beti was both exciting and challenging. I chose to come to this college because of its excellent reputation for academic excellence and its strong focus on discipline and character development. I knew that studying here would provide me with the knowledge and skills needed to achieve my future goals.

To contribute to the well-being of the college, I plan to participate actively in extracurricular activities and volunteer for community service projects. I will also strive to maintain a positive attitude and encourage my peers to do the same. By being respectful and responsible, I hope to create a supportive and inclusive environment for everyone.

In order to succeed at the end of the academic year, I have set clear goals for myself. I will attend all my classes regularly, complete my assignments on time, and seek help from my teachers whenever I face difficulties. I will also dedicate time to self-study and revision to ensure that I fully understand the material. By staying focused and disciplined, I am confident that I will achieve success.
