Read the passage below carefully and answer the questions that follow. Use complete sentences in your answers.

“SOCIAL NETWORKING”

Social Networking is when you connect with other people online using special websites such as Facebook, WhatsApp and twitter. Many teenagers use social networking extensively even more than email to communicate with other people. You choose the social network website and you create your account and page. You can post anything on this page. For example your profile, your personal information, photos, videos, and comments. Then you decide who can access your page. These people are your friends and they can make comments, upload photos etc on your page.

It is great to share information such as photos with loved ones who live far away. With any public place, there are always dangers. Generally, networks are safe if you follow basic safety rules. Most social networking sites have strong privacy settings that enable them to decide what information to share with other people. You can restrict access to information to a few people. For example you post photos which only few friends or family members can see.

It is essential that young people understand and use this setting appropriately. You should never post embarrassing photos or personal information on a page which everyone can see. Although most social networking sites require children to be over a certain age, (often 13) to sign up without their parents' permission, many kids as young as 8 can lie about their age so that they can use social network. Children so young may not know anything about online safety. So it is essential that parents monitor what their child is doing online.

Some parents insist on being their children's friend in order to check what is going on. This is Okay for younger children but parents should be careful not to post messages or photos that will embarrass their child. As kids get older, they may refuse their parents' access. This is just a normal path of growing up.
